

CALL FOR PAPERS -2016

Explorations: An Annual Multidisciplinary Bilingual Research Journal (ISSN 2349-9672)

Quality Theoretical or Research Articles are invited from Professors / Research Scholars of reputed institutes for publication in the 3rd Volume of *Explorations: An Annual Multidisciplinary Bilingual Research Journal (ISSN 2349-9672)

Last date of Submission: 31.12.2016

About the Journal:

Explorations is a Multidisciplinary Bilingual Research journal slated to be published annually by Belda College. With its obvious focus on the promotion of research culture inside the institution as well as sharing of knowledge among the academic communities from both inside and outside the institution, the journal will strive to function as a window to explorations and reflections by intelligentsia from different disciplines. The journal is designed to publish original research articles of various disciplines. The journal seeks to trigger off a thought-provoking debate on different pertinent academic issues.

In the present scenario of higher education, the exigency of adoption of a multidisciplinary approach while confronting and interpreting a multitude of complex issues is not only undeniable but inevitable. Certain contemporary issues in the arena of human knowledge could be studied only under the rubric of multiple branches of knowledge. Application of knowledge from other disciplines also results in the enrichment and further growth of any particular discipline. With a view to promote researches in not only emerging areas in Humanities, Social Sciences, Pure Sciences etc. but also areas that cut across disciplines and are of importance in a rapidly changing global scenario, the journal aims at encouraging fundamental, interdisciplinary and interdepartmental research activities and knowledge sharing through publication of quality research outcome. Allowing the contributors to use both English and a native vernacular (Bengali) as the medium of critical and creative expression, the journal will also strive to transcend the barrier imposed by linguistic imperialism on academic investigations and their publications. For promotion of publications by scholars of language-based subject like Bengali, adoption of such policy will also prove useful. Apart from encouraging application of mother tongue in research activities, this bilingual journal is looking forward to quenching the intellectual thirst of both Anglophone and non-Anglophone readers.

Regarding the selection of the articles, opinions of the Editorial Board members will be offered due importance. In some cases, consultation will be made with the members of the Advisory Board. No query by the Author about the selection of the Article will be entertained.
